SOVIET GOVERNMENT HAS DECIDED TO PROVIDE COMPULSORY LIFE INSURANCE FOR ALL SOVIET OFFICIALS WHO ACCEPT POSITIONS IN THE COUNTRYSIDE WHERE THEY ARE IN PERIL.

General Booth's Injunction.

HEARING OF APPLICATION ADJOURNED UNTIL FRIDAY.

COUNSEL AND HARMFUL CRITICISM.

REFERENCE TO STATEMENTS MADE BY ARMY OFFICIAL.

An adjournment until Friday was granted to-day by Mr Justice Eve in the Chancery Division in connection with the application for an injunction brought by General Booth against the Salvation Army High Council. The adjournment was made on the application of Mr W. A. Green, K.C., counsel for General Booth, who asked for time in which to prepare his evidence.

The injunction granted against the High Council on Friday would, his Lordship stated, continue until the hearing of the application.

ACTION TAKEN ON LEGAL ADVICE.

LONDON, Monday.

A GOOD deal of interest was centred in Mr Justice Eve's Court in the Chancery Division to-day when the application for an injunction, brought by General Booth, of the Salvation Army High Council, was down for hearing. Several members of the High Council and other Salvation Army officers were present, and the public part of the Court was filled.

The injunction had been granted on Friday afternoon, at the instance of General Bramwell Booth, restraining the High Council from acting on its resolution declaring him unfit for office and purporting to remove him. It had been obtained in connection with the action of General Booth against Hurren and other members of the Council on whom notice of the injunction had been served over the week-end.

It had been secured on an exparte application by Mr Wilfrid Greene, K.C., and it was asked for on the grounds that the deed poll of 1904 under which the High Council had been summoned was ultra vires, as the trustee could not dispose of a trust as he liked and, secondly, the procedure of the High Council was in violation of the deed poll.

MATTERS OF GREAT LEGAL IMPORTANCE.

Mr W. A. Greene, K.C., Mr H. B. Vaisey, K.C., and Mr W. Hunt, appeared for General Booth; Mr Gavin Simmonds, K.C., and Mr G. E. Hurst for Commissioner Higgins; and Mr Stuart Bevan, K.C., and Mr J. H. Stamp for Commissioner Hurren and other members of the High Council, who voted for the resolution.

When Mr Justice Eve took his seat Mr Greene said that the motion had come before his Lordship on Friday, when an injunction was granted meanwhile. His learned friends asked for time to prepare the evidence, and, subject to what his Lordship might say, they had agreed that the matter should stand over until Friday next on the same basis as before.

Mr Justice Eve: Will Friday be long enough?

Mr Simonds: Without pledging ourselves, I think I may say that we can let counsel have a proof of evidence by Wednesday morning.

"It has come to our notice" said Mr Greene, "that one of the defendants, I am sure with the best intentions and best motives in the world, has sent out a document which contains some observations on the action of the General in commencing these proceedings. I am sure that was done with the best intentions, but I cannot help thinking that it will do nothing but harm.

"Your Lordship appreciates that whatever may be the rights and wrongs from the different points of view, there are obviously in this matter, matter of great legal importance, particularly having regard to the fact that the General is the sole trustee of large and valuable properties and the matter sooner or later has got to be regulated.

SILENCE ADVOCATED.

"I should like to say on his behalf that the action which he has taken was taken on legal advice and is not in any way actuated by personal motives. The constitutional position rather than the narrow legal position has got to be made clear, and on that footing the proceedings had to be lodged, and had to be lodged, of course, in a hurry, and in so far as any criticism has been made of the General's action I cannot help thinking that it was rather a pity.

"I may, perhaps, be allowed to hope that it won't be repeated, and I am sure my learned friends will agree that the less said on both sides that may tend in any way to embitter or aggravate the situation the better.

Mr Simonds: I entirely agree. I do not know to what my learned friend is referring, but we all know that there have been articles which appear to have been inspired on either side. I agree, however, that it is much better that nothing should be said to embitter this controversy and endanger what chances there well may be of coming to a settlement in the interests of the Army, which are paramount.

Mr Stuart Bevan: If, as we hope, we are enabled to let my learned friends have the evidence by Wednesday, may we have any evidence in reply by Thursday so that Friday will be an effective hearing?

Mr Greene said that he would do his best but he explained that it was a little difficult because the General was ill in the country and it might be necessary to see him.

The matter was then adjourned till Friday, the injunction to continue on the same basis until that day.

SYMPATHIES WITHDRAWN.

It is stated that on Saturday, members of the High Council were assured by Commissioner Catherine Booth, General Bramwell Booth's daughter, that no legal action was contemplated. When it was announced that an injunction had been served restraining them from acting on their resolution to dispose the General and from electing a successor, three of the four Commissioners who had supported the General and refused to vote for the resolution adjudicating him unfit decided to dissociate themselves from the Booth family.

BRIBERY ALLEGED.

COURT STATEMENTS REGARDING POLICE SERGT.'S WEALTH.

WOMAN DEFENDANT IN TEARS.

LONDON, Monday.—The trial was opened at the Old Bailey to-day of ex-Station Sergt. George Goddard (49), Mrs Kate Evelyn Meyrick (52), and Luigi Achille Ribuffi (48), Italian restaurant manager, on charges alleging police bribery. There was a further charge against Mrs Meyrick of selling intoxicating liquor without a licence.

The Court was crowded when the three defendants surrendered to their bail, and entered the dock together. All pleaded not guilty.

The Public Prosecutor, Sir Archibald Bodkin, was in Court. Before the jury were sworn, applications on behalf of Mrs Meyrick and Ribuffi for separate trials were made, but were refused.

A singular application on behalf of Goddard was also refused.

WOMAN IN TEARS.

As the clerk read indictments to the jury Mrs Meyrick put a handkerchief to her eyes and sobbed. Mr Percival Clarke said the charge was one of considerable gravity and importance. The person round whom the alleged conspiracy revolved was ex-Station Sergeant Goddard, who had 26½ years service and was trusted implicitly. He had with him another uniformed officer named Wilkin. They were in "C" Division, in which there happened to be situate night clubs, restaurants, and places known to be carried on as disorderly houses.

Raids had taken place perhaps because the persons who raided had not subscribed sufficiently liberally to prevent these raids from being made.

Mr Clarke spoke of the receipt of an anonymous letter at Scotland Yard, which led to the questioning of Goddard, and resulted in the present proceedings, and then went over the evidence given at the police court hearing.

MONEY TRACED.

Referring to a number of £10 notes found in Goddard's safe, counsel said one naturally asked how they came into his possession. Was Ribuffi buying Goddard's silence or favourable consideration? Mr Clarke said 16 £5 notes were issued from Mrs Meyrick's banking account in July, 1926, and found their way into Goddard's safe.

Speaking of Goddard's accounts at different banks, counsel said he had a deposit account at Barclay's Bank in Edgware-road with £50 at a time in Treasury notes until it stood at £2,025. In a current account at Streatham (where Goddard lived) there was £693, and a remarkable feature was that while money was always going in none was taken out.

WORTH NEARLY £18,000.

The money in Edgware-road branch had been on deposit so long that it had earned £224 interest.

Counsel said when Goddard wanted to purchase a freehold house for £1,600 or £1,700 he went through the strange performance of getting a friend to buy it. His motor car cost £400, and shortly before this inquiry began he loaned £500 to a friend without an I.O.U. There had been traced to his possession a sum of £17,964.

Mr Clarke's opening address occupied an hour and twenty-five minutes. Evidence was then called.

Mr Alfred Tucker, manager of the Wimbledon Park branch of Barclay's Bank, gave evidence of certain notes which had been issued to Ribuffi and which were afterwards traced to Goddard. These covered a period between October, 1925 and September, 1927.

Hermann Appenrodt, managing director of H. Appenrodt, Ltd., said that the company let 43, Gerrard-street to Mrs Meyrick at a rent of £650 per annum.

Another bank witness, referring to the exchange of Treasury and Bank of England notes, said: Four £10 notes were exchanged for 41 pound notes by Miss Dorothy Meyrick, afterwards Lady de Clifford. Mrs Meyrick later became a customer of the branch.

The case was adjourned until to-morrow, with bail as before.

"LIFE IS SO EMPTY."

GIRL'S TRAGIC INFATUATION FOR MARRIED MAN.

PATHETIC LAST LETTERS.

LONDON, Monday.—A story of a girl's infatuation for a married man was related at a Paddington inquest to-day on Eva Wake (23), whose home was in Durham, and who had been in domestic service in London for five years. Evidence was given that the girl had said she was "keeping company with a man employed at Paddington Station." She found out that he was married, and had tried to take her life on Paddington Station. She had calmly discussed modes of suicide.

Three letters found in the girl's room were read by the Coroner. Extracts were: "I have tried hard to forget Jack, but I can't. I can't possibly live without him. How I have lived through the last two months I don't know. Life is so empty."

FOUND ON DOORSTEP.

William Wake, a miner, of Australia-street, Durham, the father, said that he had not seen his daughter since she went to London five years ago to go into service. Before then she had run away from home. She had had good situations in Durham, Newcastle, and Hanley.

A police constable described how he found the girl in a collapsed state on a doorstep in Oxford-street. She said that she had taken poison.

A verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was recorded, the Coroner remarking that it was a strange thing that people who wished to commit suicide were so easily able to do it with poison.

HESSLE DIVORCE SUIT.

FORMER HULL WOMAN GRANTED DECREE NISI.

LONDON, Monday.—A decree nisi with costs and custody of the child was granted by the president (Lord Merrivale) in the Divorce Division this afternoon to Mrs Edith M. Saunders, of Southfield, Hessle, Yorkshire because of the adultery of her husband, Mr Frederick George Saunders, at a house in Cooper-street, Chapeltown, Leeds.

After the marriage in 1913, the parties lived at various addresses, including Young-street, and Sunnybank, Hull. Later, there was a separation, and the respondent went to live with another woman.

MILLWALL'S CUP-TIE WIN.

HULL CITY NOW WITHOUT A FIXTURE NEXT SATURDAY.

Millwall defeated Northampton this afternoon by two goal goals to nil in the second replayed Third Round tie of the F.A. Cup, on the Highbury ground. They will thus receive Crystal Palace on Saturday next in the Fourth Round. Hull City will, therefore, be without a fixture next Saturday, for the New Cross team should have visited Anlaby-road. This is unfortunate for the Tigers, for the match had been looked upon as one of the most interesting of the League series.

The game on the Arsenal ground this afternoon attracted a gate of 32,391, and the receipts reached £2,192.

Middlesbrough and Walsall have at last reached a decision. The match has twice been postponed owing to the frozen state of the ground, but this afternoon at Ayresome Park Middlesbrough made no mistake by winning by five goals to one. The Yorkshire team will now travel to West Bromwich.

BRITISH STEAMER IN DISTRESS

A Lloyd's St. Pierre (Miquelon) message dated Sunday says the British steamer Teesbridge Fowey, for Philadelphia, is in distress 48 point 32 N., 41 W. The Belgian steamer Caucasier is proceeding to assist.

HULL TRAWLER STRANDED.

ST. LOUIS HITS SUBMERGED ROCK AT FARNE ISLANDS.

CREW SAVED.

A Lloyd's Seahouses message to-day says the steam trawler St. Louis, of Hull, has stranded on a submerged rock between Longstone and Brumstone Rock, Farne Islands.

The crew has been saved.

A lifeboat is standing by.

The vessel was constructed at Beverley in 1925, her tonnage being 150, and her horse-power 96, and the owners are Messrs Thos. Hamling and Co., Ltd.

LEFT HULL ON SUNDAY.

The St. Louis only left the Hull St. Andrew's Dock on Sunday morning, her destination being Iceland. The voyage on which she embarked was to have taken from 18 to 23 days, and to have been pursued via Methil, the sea-port town in Fifeshire, Scotland. The Farne Islands (or Fern Islands) is a group of seven rocky islets off the coast of Northumberland, separated from the mainland by the Fairway Channel. The St. Louis, therefore, must have been on her way to Methil, when the mishap occurred.

The Farne Islands, incidentally, are famous for their association with Grace Darling and the Longstone lighthouse.

NOW IN HARBOUR.

The owners have received a later message to the effect that the St. Louis is now in Holy Island Harbour.

The owners are as yet unaware of the extent of the damage suffered by the trawler, and, of course, are not in a position to state whether she will proceed on her trip.

KING'S PROGRESS MAINTAINED

LONDON, Monday.—It was officially stated at Buckingham Palace this morning that the progress in the King's condition noted in the last bulletin is maintained. The next bulletin will be issued to-night. The King's condition this morning was said to be unchanged.

Lord Dawson of Penn was at the Palace for an hour and a half to-day. For the first time for some days he was not accompanied by Sir Hugh Rigby.

Prince George will leave London for Sandringham this afternoon, and he will spend a few days shooting with his brothers there.

Sir Wm. Joynson-Hicks, who returned from his holiday in the South of France yesterday, called at the Palace this morning.

ABOLITION OF WAGES BOARD.

BRIDLINGTON FARMERS CONSIDER SYSTEM UNWORKABLE.

(FROM OUR OWN REPORTER.)

Mr G. P. Watson presided at the monthly meeting of Bridlington branch of the Farmers' Union on Saturday evening, when there was a large attendance of members. The secretary (Mr C. H. Simpson) announced that he had received from the Queen thanks to the members for the kind message of sympathy the branch had sent to her in the King's illness.

It was resolved again to write to the adjoining landowners to request permission to carry on the usual pigeon shooting.

A discussion took place on the regulations and compensations allowed in respect of tuberculous cows which had been or would be condemned by the county authorities, and it was resolved to have the attention of the Executive drawn to the necessity of urging an amendment to the Act. They desired that by tis amendment greater clarity should be provided in the rules and regulations defining what was a tuberculous cow. It was also urged that as these animals were condemned in the public interest, the Government should provide full compensation from the public funds.

The branch resolved to support the recommendations of other branches of the N.F.U. in connection with the urgent necessity of something being done to alleviate the deplorable position in which agriculture was placed. In particular, the branch supported the abolition of the Wages Board, or alternatively the fixing of a guaranteed price for the farmer's produce. It had been found impossible, it was stated, to pay a fixed wage based on the cost of living when products were realising a price greatly below the cost of production.

The proposal that a duty of £1 per quarter should be placed on imported barley also met with full support. The secretary was instructed to forward the resolutions to the County Executive.

CONGRATULATION MERITED.

NOBODY LOCKED UP IN HULL ON SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

An interesting fact was noted by the Hull Stipendiary Magistrate to-day.

"For the first time within living memory," he said, "certainly within the memory of Mr Bairstow (clerk to the Justices) who has a long experience of this Court, nobody was locked up on Sunday or Saturday. We heard some time ago about Hull being an evil and wicked city, and when we rise to such heights as this it is worth noting. The city is to be congratulated."

HUSBAND SUMMONED IN HULL.

At the Hull Police Court this morning, before the Stipendiary Magistrate, Mrs W. L. Best, of Lillian's-terrace, Woodhouse-street, Hull, summoned her husband, Charles Best, for desertion.

Mr T. L. Witty, for complainant, stated that the parties were married in 1922 at the Ryegate Registry Office (Surrey) and there were two children. Eventually Mrs Best sold her home and came to reside at Hull, where her husband left her.

Defendant denied desertion, but an order for 25s per week was made and complainant was given custody of the two children.

HULL TERRITORIALS.

At a meeting of the East Riding Territorial Association at the Hull Guildhall this afternoon, the total strength on January 1st last was reported to be 80 officers and 1,497 other ranks, requiring 17 officers and 237 other ranks to complete the full complement.

The figures on January 1st, 1928, were: 83 officers and 1,468 other ranks—a decrease of three officers and an increase of 29 other ranks.

MARSHAL FOCH'S PROGRESS.

PARIS, Monday.—The doctors continue to be satisfied with the progress made by Marshal Foch. After this morning's consultation the usual bulletin was issued, which stated that the improvement in the patient's general condition continues. Marshal Foch will be allowed to get up for a little while to-day.—Reuter.

HULL OILMILLER'S INJURY.

AFGHANISTAN'S NEW AMEER.

EFFORTS TO CONSOLIDATE POSITION AND FORM MINISTRY.

NEW DELHI, Monday.—As far as can be ascertained, Habibullah Ghazi, the new King, or rather, as he styles himself, Ameer of Afghanistan, is endeavouring to form a new Ministry. At any rate he has established himself in the Royal Palace at Kabul and is consolidating his position.

There is no indication yet as to the attitude of the other Afghan provinces towards him. Ex-King Amanullah is still at Kandahar, and arrivals from there say that he is working hard to try to muster the local people to his side.

The other ex-King Inayatullah and his party left Peshawar during the night for Chaman by special train, and will proceed thence to Kandahar.

There is at the moment no recognised Government in Afghanistan, but fighting has ceased everywhere except at Jagdalak—between Kabul and Jelaaabad—where apparently looting is going on.

The following arrived at Peshawar from Kabul by R.A.F. aeroplanes on Saturday: Hamidulla Khoftulla and Khililulla, sons of Prince Inayatullah; Shamao, sister of King Amanullah; Abdul Fateh, brother of Queen Souriya; Abdul Habib, Private secretary to Prince Inayatullah; Mahommed Amin, half-brother of King Amanullah, Royal Ahmed, a clerk; and two servants with their seven children.

An Indian driver to an Afghan Sirdar in Kabul arrived at Peshawar as a stowaway in an R.A.F. 'plane, which brought a number of Afghan notables there on Saturday. He was an Indian and had disguised himself in an R.A.F. coat.—Reuter.

ROYAL BROTHERS TO JOIN FORCES.

PESHAWAR, Monday.—Prince Inayatullah, before leaving for Chaman, expressed his intention of joining his brother, Amanullah, and that the Shinwaris will move against Kabul.

RUMOURED DEATH OF NEW AMEER.

HOCKEY.

LINCOLNSHIRE II. DEFEAT YORKSHIRE II. AT SCUNTHORPE.

ONE GOAL DECIDES.

In a thrilling game at Normanby Park, Scunthorpe, on Saturday, Lincolnshire seconds beat Yorkshire seconds 1-0.

The only goal of the match was scored during a hot bombardment of the Yorkshire goal by Kendall, of Grimsby, after Coates (Bradford) had made two or three quick saves.

As a line, the Yorkshire halves were better than Lincolnshire's middle men, but there was no better half on the field than Littlewood, of Lincoln. Rowlands was the pick of the Lincolnshire forwards. Yorkshire had a good centre-half in Sargent, of Scarborough, and O'Dowd (Doncaster L.N.E.R.) is a promising young right back.

Lincolnshire.—Gilbert (Lincoln); Wood (Normanby Park) and Black (Skegness); Littlewood (Lincoln), H. Wright (Alford), and Bowman (Stamford); Baines (Brigg), Meanwell (Brigg), Kendall (Grimsby), Wright (R.A.F. Digby), and Rowlands (Skegness).

Yorkshire.—Coates (Bradford); O'Dowd (Doncaster L.N.E.R.) and McLusky (Halifax); Allenby (Hull), Sargent (Scarborough), and Mason (Huddersfield); Brindlecombe (Sandal), Tilling (Wickersley), Greenwood (Huddersfield), Sunley (Barnsley), and Parratt (Ripon and Harrogate).

CHESHIRE BEATEN.

Yorkshire maintained their unbeaten record when defeating Cheshire at Manchester by four goals to three.

BARTON DEATHS.

PASSING OF THREE POPULAR RESIDENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The interment took place on Friday of Mrs Lawtey, wife of Mr J. Lawtey, of the Butchery. The service at the Parish Church was conducted by the Revs W. E. Varah (vicar) and G. H. Legge (curate). The husband was the chief mourner, with other relatives. Messrs Dent and Sons were the undertakers.

The death took place on Saturday at his residence, 74, Butts-road, Barton, of Mr George (50), after a brief illness. Although no connection of the founder of the Elswick Hopper Cycle and Motor Co., Ltd., he had been in the employ of the firm for over 35 years and for some years was a foreman of the erecting department. His five sons and one daughter are in the employ of the firm. Deceased was a man of pleasing personality and was interested in all kinds of sport. His comparatively early death is deeply regretted by his fellow workmen, and a wide circle of friends.

We regret to record the death on Saturday of Mrs Mary Ann Thompson, aged 82. She was found dead in her bed at the residence of her son, 38, Pasture road. The deceased had been in failing health for some time. She was a native of the town and was well-known as a maternity nurse for many years.

THE BIG FIRE.

QUICK MOVE BY BUSINESS PEOPLE AFFECTED.

ADVICE TO CUSTOMERS.

The ruins of the three prominent business houses in the centre of Hull's shopping thoroughfare, which on Saturday morning were demolished by the most disastrous fire the city has experienced for years, presented a sorry spectacle over the week-end.

This morning the charred beams were whitened over with frost, and the heavy fog which hung over the city like a pall clung about the debris, giving it a most eerie-like appearance. Barriers were still in position, but not restricting the danger area to such an extent as was the case on Saturday. Danger, however, still exists, and Supt. Parker, seen by a "Mail" reporter this morning, said they were waiting instructions for the demolition of the property.

A curious feature of the disaster is to be seen in Chariot-street, where a sun-blind hangs dejectedly over the pavement from the premises occupied by the Yorkshire Warehouse Company. A part of the debris of these premises was seen to be smouldering soon after Supt. Parker came on the scene this morning, and as a precautionary measure a hose was played on to it.

The members of the brigade had an extremely heavy day on Saturday, and it was not until after three o'clock that the last engine was removed, the trailer pump being at work until 6.45.

POSITION OF THE EMPLOYES.

In connection with Messrs Woodhouse's, the work is not serious as was at first thought. The workers of Messrs Jas. Woodhouse and Son—about 35 in number—will be absorbed into the warehouse in Great Union-street, and Messrs Johnson, Ltd., gentlemen's clothiers, are opening temporary premises in a vacant shop on the other side of the street. There is no indication of the immediate prospects of the workpeople employed by the Yorkshire Warehouse Company.

In connection with Messrs Woodhouses, the firm is anxious to inform customers that goods purchased, and not yet delivered, are not affected by the fire. They were removed to the warehouse after purchase, and with one or two exceptions will be delivered immediately. All inquiries should be addressed to the warehouse in Great Union-street, or by telephone—31641. Temporary premises, we are informed, are in view, and the public will be advised as soon as arrangements are completed.

The prospective Conservative candidate for Central Hull (Mr L. Kimball) has expressed sympathy in the loss sustained by the various firms, and to their employes, in a telegram to the Lord Mayor (Councillor Benno Pearlman, J.P.).

Another large business to suffer was that of Noel K, gown and mantle premises, separated by only a few feet from the Yorkshire Warehouse Company. Wax dummies melted into all kinds of fantastic shapes from the intense heat, and the whole of the stock in the long side window suffered considerably. Chief damage to other stock was caused by water, and an estimate of the total loss is put at £600. It is intended to clear the lot at a "fire" sale to be announced later in the week.

SUGGESTION FOR THE CORPORATION

Other people to suffer are the smaller shopkeepers in Chariot-street, whose premises were indirectly damaged by the heat. Very few windows opposite to Messrs Johnson's and the Yorkshire Warehouse Company remain intact. Cracks running from top to bottom and blistered paintwork testify to the terrific heat from forty feet away, and in addition to this loss, the barricaded street is keeping away the people who would normally use Chariot-street for shopping purposes.

Jameson-street is more fortunate as the barriers do not now affect the business premises directly opposite to Messrs Woodhouse's.

It is certain that no time will be lost in re-building the destroyed properties. Major C. D. Allderidge, of Bowlalley-lane, has been provisionally commissioned to prepare plans and he was busy on the scene this morning examining the sites. It is suggested that the position now affords an opportunity to the Corporation in the widening of Chariot-street, which would be a much needed improvement in this part of the city.
